A quiet studio.

A beautiful setting.

Time for inspiration.

Teacher Residencies at the Saltonstall Foundation

Saltonstall is pleased to welcome five local teachers to the colony for a special residency during their winter recess, February 15 - 19.

This 5-day, 4-night project, now in its second year, is designed to mirror Saltonstall's summer residency program. Each teacher will be given a private apartment and uninterrupted time to focus on their craft.

The following teachers were chosen by lottery:

- Caitlin Chan, art teacher at Boynton Middle School
- Shawn Goodman, author and school psychologist at Ithaca High School
- Matthew Holl, world language teacher at Ithaca High School
- Jon Raimon, teacher and writer at Lehman Alternative Community School
- Matthew Soucy, English teacher at Ithaca High School

"I seldom get time to write and yet I spend my life trying to get teens to do just that," wrote Jon Raimon (pictured above). Jon's lived in Ithaca most of his life. He has taught at LACS for nearly twenty years, following ten years at Ithaca High School where he worked as a youth worker and teaching assistant.

Saltonstall's teacher's residency is produced in partnership with the Ithaca City School District's Fine Arts Booster Group (an affiliate of IPEI, the Ithaca Public Education Initiative.)

Welcome teachers!
